COLORADO WATER CONGRESS MEMBERSHIP

The Colorado Water Congress offers membership opportunities for organizations and individuals. Our 400+ organizational members and hundreds of individual members represent the interests of every sector of the water industry from across the state.

Colorado Water Congress members gain a tremendous advantage from access to a powerful combination of premier events, networking and professional development opportunities. What's more, membership brings the opportunity to share your ideas about water issues and be part of the leading voice of Colorado's water community.

CWC Membership brings great value for all water professionals

As a CWC Member you can:

Make a difference in the state's water policy- You can contribute to the well-respected voice of the Water Congress in the state and federal legislative sessions. This is your opportunity to play an active, key role in advancing a positive outcome for Colorado water.

Attend the state's premier water events at a greatly reduced rate- CWC members are offered discounted rates to our Annual Convention and Summer Conference. These events provide a platform for professionals to learn about important issues, current legislation and the latest developments that impact water users in Colorado and beyond.

Become a leader in your profession- Members can serve on committees including State and Federal Affairs, Water Quality, Endangered Species, POND (Professionals Outreach, Networking and Development) and our Board of Directors.

Committee meetings offer an open forum for members to discuss and take a position on current water legislation and issues. This is your chance to leave a personal and professional legacy.

Expand your knowledge-base and develop you career - CWC offers member-only educational and professional development opportunities. Participate in workshops and webinars with topics that include water law, ethics, storage, and communication techniques.

Become a part of the Colorado water community- By joining, you will enter into the largest organized water community in the state. CWC membership provides opportunity for networking with the water professionals of all disciplines and provides ample opportunity to give and receive support for your organization/ business.

Roadmap for CWC Member Involvement

The Colorado Water Congress is organized as the principal voice of Colorado’s water community. Our mission is to initiate and advance programs to conserve, develop, administer, and protect the water resources of the State of Colorado. The CWC Board encourages all members to be directly involved in the organization on behalf of the entire Colorado water community. CWC dedicates resources to accomplish this objective. Members have multiple avenues to engage with CWC’s mission.

What is a Discussion Group?

A Discussion Group is organized by a set of CWC members for a specific purpose within CWC’s mission. A Discussion Group may be of indefinite term, relies on the group’s internal expertise, and is minimally supported by CWC staff.

What is a Work Group?

A Work Group is organized by a set of CWC members or the CWC for a specific purpose as approved by the CWC Board. Work products are completed using Work Group resources within a specific timeframe.

What is a Special Project?

A Special Project is created by the CWC Board for a long-term specific purpose. Annual budgets and funding mechanisms are set by Special Project funders. CWC serves an administrative role to collect funds for a Special Project and maintain them in a separate, annually audited bank account. A 5% administrative charge is assessed on Special Projects. If a Special Project requires CWC staff support, reimbursement for staff time may be provided.

Current Special Projects: Colorado River Endangered Species and Colorado Water Stewardship Project

What is a Standing Committee?

A Standing Committee is created by the CWC Board for an ongoing specific purpose. A Standing Committee consists of CWC members and is supported by CWC staff. An annual fee may be set by the CWC Board to cover external expenses of a Standing Committee.

Current Standing Committees: State Affairs, Federal Affairs, POND, Water Quality, and Communications.

What is a Subcommittee?

A Subcommittee is created by a Standing Committee to study and provide recommendations to the Committee on a specific issue.
